Good afternoon,

My name is Chloe Edwards and I am the Project Manager for the Oxfordshire Local Nature Recovery Strategy (LNRS) working at Oxfordshire County Council. I was responsible for developing the Local Nature Recovery Strategy in partnership with a range of people and organisations in Oxfordshire. Now we are moving into delivery and working with local partners and communities, helping others to use and understand the strategy and find opportunities to deliver benefits for wildlife, people, and places in Oxfordshire.

As part of this work, we have been working with Thames Valley Environmental Records Centre (TVERC) to produce parish-level summaries of the LNRS information. These reports summarise the nature recovery actions suggested in each parish area, drawing information from the LNRS process into a much shorter format that we hope will be useful for local councils.

We're at a stage where we have drafted a report for your area and we can make changes depending on the feedback we receive. If you'd like to provide feedback, we have attached a copy of your parish report and would greatly appreciate your comments.

In particular, we would be interested to hear:

- What you think works well in the report/what do you find helpful about this report?
- Are there any sections or pieces of information that you would like to be added, amended, removed, or explained more clearly?
- How you think you might be able to use this report, for example using the information in neighbourhood plans, informing local projects, or helping to guide future decisions.

Your local knowledge and perspective are extremely valuable, and any comments you can provide will help us refine both the report and the wider LNRS process. You can feedback directly by email or I can have a Teams call online to discuss the report. Our deadline to receive comments is the 8th September but we can extend this if you let us know in advance that you need longer.

In return we will be able to send an updated version of this report with changes that we are able to make.

Thank you for your time and support. We look forward to hearing your thoughts. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Kind regards,

Chloe Edwards
